PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

In this issue, we bring to you the inspiring work done by the Society for Bright Future, a non-government organization that has been serving humanity for over a decade. As we know that India is one of the most disaster-prone countries in the world. The geographical features render it vulnerable to a number of natural hazards such as cyclone, drought, floods, earthquakes, fire, landslides and avalanches.

Though, India has integrated administrative machinery for disaster management at National, State and District levels, however there is always a necessity of non-government organizations as a supplementary to the State relief efforts by initiating supportive actions.

For a long-term planning and preparedness for disaster mitigation the role of a non-govt organizations like Society for Bright Future

Maqbul Ahmad Anarwala
(Retired. IPS)

President, Society for Bright Future

(SBF), becomes very important. The SBF since its formation a decade ago has set a benchmark in tackling disasters.

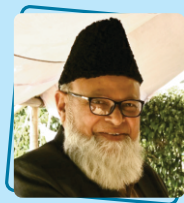

To train its volunteers the SBF organized over a 100+ workshops in several parts of India to prepare the volunteers to respond during any calamity viz manmade or natural in their areas and across the country.

We are proud to mention that our efforts are powered by a team of over 2250 dedicated volunteers, who have been instrumental in responding to these catastrophic events and making a positive impact in the lives of those affected.

SECRETARY'S MESSAGE

Our beloved country, India, faced severe natural and man-made disasters over the past year. These incidents have undoubtedly been a source of concern for all of us. However, it is also a matter of satisfaction and pride that Society for Bright Future (SBF) played a remarkable role in the field of humanitarian service and disaster management during the year 2024.

In 2024, SBF responded promptly to dozens of major natural disasters – including severe floods, fires, and landslides – across various states such as Assam, Uttar Pradesh, Kerala, Gujarat, Delhi, West Bengal, Haryana, and Jharkhand. Through timely action, SBF successfully rescued over 23,807 affected individuals to safe locations. During these crises, emergency relief in the form of food, clothing, and medicines was provided. For rehabilitation, assistance was extended for repairing homes, and temporary shelters were arranged.

Mohd Shafi Madni

Secretary, Society for Bright Future

Under Project Rahat, a winter relief initiative focused on blanket distribution, 317 programs were organized in 14 states in 2024. As a result, 18,356 blankets were distributed to poor and needy families to help them through the harsh winter.

We take great pride in stating that all of these accomplishments are the result of the relentless efforts of over 2,250 talented, dedicated, and determined volunteers, who not only faced every challenge with courage but also played a key role in saving and improving thousands of lives.
